

The First Congregational Church of Greenwich First Music and Arts Series presents

SUNDAY AFTERNOONS LIVE

2:00 p.m.

January 8

TOD HEDRICK JAZZ QUARTET

Tod Hedrick will be bringing his jazz ensemble with him for an enjoyable afternoon of jazz in the superb acoustical setting of FCCOG's auditorium. Tod shares a bit about the program: "[The] repertoire choices for this early January concert will bring out some of the familiar jazz sounds, as well as taking the audience into some more introspective moods that come from winter."

January 22

LINNEA CONLEY, MEZZO SOPRANO & CHRISTOPHER PFUND, TENOR

Two of our talented section leaders from the First Congregational Church Chancel Choir step into the limelight as they share solos and duets from sacred and secular repertoire. Accompanied by First Congregational Church's music director, Craig Scott Symons.

February 12

MARK NADLER, CABARET PIANO

If Victor Borge had been able to sing and tap dance, he would have been Mark Nadler. "Mark Nadler in a Nutshell" is a riotously fun and vastly entertaining evening of comedy, great songs and mad-cap merriment. Mark Nadler, who has appeared at Carnegie Hall, on Broadway and everywhere in between, was recently heralded by The New York Times as "a comic spark plug touched with brilliance" and The Village Voice dubbed him "the most prodigiously talented entertainer working in America today!"

February 26

BRYANT PARK QUARTET

With excellence and passion, the Bryant Park Quartet (Anna Elashvili and Ben Russell, violins, Nathan Schram, viola, and Tomoko Fujita, cello) delivers captivating performances, delighting audiences across the country. The program is entitled On the Verge and will feature music by Mozart, Ligeti, and Beethoven.

All performances take place in the acoustical splendor of the First Congregational Church Auditorium.

Coffee and tea will be served. Suggested donation is $20 per person or $50 per family.
